

Make Your Support Go Further

Corporate Matching Gifts & Volunteer Grants

Your employer may be able to increase the impact of your support for Friends of Rockville Fish and Game Club. Many companies provide charitable contributions through matching gift programs and employee volunteer grant programs.

1. Corporate Matching Gifts

Many employers match charitable donations made by their employees to eligible nonprofit organizations. Some match contributions dollar-for-dollar, while others use a different matching formula or establish annual limits.

Example: You Donate $100 + Employer Match $100 = $200 of Support!

2. Employee Volunteer Grants

Some employers make charitable contributions when their employees volunteer with an eligible nonprofit. These programs may be called Volunteer Grants, Dollars for Doers, or Volunteer Matching Programs. Depending on the employer, a grant may be based on the number of hours volunteered or may become available after an employee reaches a minimum number of volunteer hours.

How Do I Find Out Whether My Employer Participates?

- Check your employer's benefits website, employee portal, or charitable giving platform.
- Search for terms such as "Matching Gifts," "Corporate Giving," "Volunteer Grants," or "Dollars for Doers."
- Ask your Human Resources department whether the company matches charitable donations or provides grants for employee volunteer service.
- Review any minimum donation, volunteer-hour, annual limit, eligibility, and submission-deadline requirements.
